ADVENTURE BRINGS BOND OF LIFETIME
By HENRIETTA LEITH
NEW YORK (AP) - In a Manhattan publishing office, a pretty girl reads trade books and dreams of adventure.
On Alaska's northern coast, a middle-aged mechanic works on the DEW line - Distant Early Warning - and dreams of getting back to California for Christmas with his wife and six children.
It's unlikely that Helen Klaben, 24, and Ralph Flores, the Mexican-born Mormon convert from San Bruno, Calif., are the pair who 3 1/2 years ago spent 49 terrible days together on a mountainside in the Yukon - 40 of those days without food.
Helen was 21 and Flores was 42 when they met in Fairbanks, Alaska, early in 1963. Flores wanted a passenger on a flight home to California. Helen had gone to Alaska with another girl on a lark, and she wanted to get to San Francisco in hopes of joining a group going to Mexico.
When their plane crashed into the trees near Aeroplano Lake, on the border of the Yukon Territory and British Columbia, experts wouldn't give them more than a few days to survive in the frozen waste, where temperatures dropped to 48 degrees below zero.
But their "tremendous will to live," plus the fantastic energy of the small Flores - who chopped down trees with a chisel and hammer and built fires for weeks when melted snow was their only sustenance - kept them alive until a plane spotted their distress signal and they were rescued.
Today, Helen is an assistant editor of the Macmillan Division of the Crowell-Collier publishing firm. Her foot, from which five toes had to be amputated because of frostbite, scarcely CHRISTMAS SEAL replica held by "Music Man" Meredith Wilson is admired by Judy Carne, star of the television series "Love on a Rooftop." bothers her now. An operation last December made it possible for her to walk without pain, and to wear the kind of shoes a 24-year-old girl would want to wear.

Since their rescue, she and Flores have corresponded occasionally. She got a Christmas card from him.
But the last time she saw him, on a visit to California in the spring of 1965, Helen decided she had better not keep up the friendship.
For Flores, who in the tradition of the Mormon Church is a lay minister, was just as determined to convert the Jewish girl to the Mormon Church as he was during their long ordeal, when he kept telling her their rescue depended on her acceptance of the divinity of Christ.
And Helen is just as determined as ever to stick to "my faith in my friend God."
So, while she still thinks of Flores as a wonderful person to whom she owes her life, Helen doesn't plan to correspond with him any more.
When she thinks of those frozen days in 1963, her recollections are "not at all" nightmarish. Nor has her love for adventure diminished.
"I love my job," she says, "and I'll stay with it - unless someone offers me a trip around the world."

Referring to a series of articles by Associated Press writers who uncovered numerous cases of graft, theft and bribery, North Dakota Republican said, "This not only is a loss in economic assistance but a loss in confidence on the part of the local people and the government of the United States when the money goes to grafters rather than the poor it is intended to help."

Very Late for Engagement

LONDON (AP)—Barbara Castle was very late indeed for an engagement to speak to 500 schoolgirls in Paddington, England, Wednesday night.

A massive traffic jam paralyzed London's West End and sitting fretfully in the middle of it was Mrs. Castle, Britain's woman transport minister who is supposed to be sorting out the whole mess.

The two-mile drive from the House of Commons to Paddington took her two hours.

YOUTH ASKED FOR IT!

This column is for young people their problems and pleasures, their troubles and fun. As with the rest of Helen Help US!, it welcomes laughs but won't dodge a serious question with a brush-off.

Send your teenage questions to Helen Help US!, this newspaper.

SLIM CHANCE

Dear Helen: I was born out of wedlock. My mother came from a poor family. My father from a prominent family. Can you tell me if I can claim a share of my father's estate according to law? He died about two years ago no one knows who my real father was. It is a 66-year old secret. — FORGOTTEN CHILD

Dear F. C.: This is a problem for a lawyer, but if no one knows who your real father was — and his name does not appear on your birth certificate — I doubt you'll have much luck in bringing claim on an estate that may already be settled. — H.

Dear Helen: This is for "Over-Bleached" who claims the chlorine does not turn blonde hair green. The algaeicide prevents five containing copper sulphate does! It discolors blonde hair and also gray hair.

Normally, if she washes her head after a swim and lies in the sun three or four days, she will have no discoloration.

For others with this problem, take it from a man in the swimming pool business: If enough chlorine is used in the water, no algaeicide is needed, but one to four ounces of copper sulphate to 10,000 gallons of water is pretty safe (unless the water company has already added some of its own). — C.W.L.

Dear Helen: As a swimming pool owner for 25 years, I feel qualified to speak. My two blonde daughters went through the green-hair bit, and a gray-haired friend became blue-haired before I realized copper oxide and plain old bluing (to make the pool look bright) can't be used for certain hair colors. Those algaeicides are the culprits, usually. — O. H.

Dear Helen: I'm exactly the same measurements as when I married, 30 years ago. Yet in those days I wore a size-16 store-bought dress, and now I wear a size-12. When I buy a dress a pattern, according to my measurements I should get a size-16 (36 bust), but even a size-14 is too large.

Why oh why don't the clothing and pattern industries standardize? When my husband buys again, would find considerable a quarter-inch bolt, it fits a quarter-inch nut, but I must buy a size-14 pattern and a size-12 dress to fit what I still think and is a size-16 figure. — BAFFLED, chance to sell the first of the Dear Baffled: Yes... But doesn't it make you feel beautifully SLIM — H.

Dear Helen: My husband says any woman can get all her housework done if she consistently spends one-half hour a day on it, working "organized." Could this be? — D.J.S.

Dear Dis: Let him put his shoulder where his mouth is and try it for a week... WITHOUT the help of his secretary! — H.

YOUR HELPING HAND DEPART

Dear Helen: Would your readers with a little time please write to Mrs. Ruth Dockery, Rt. 1, Box 341, Laurens, South Carolina, 29-360. She is 72, and has been in bed a year, after breaking her leg in 1965. She's all alone, and let- ters would cheer her greatly. — Mrs. E. N.

Grandmother May Sell Electric Car

By CHARLES C. Cain

DETROIT, (AP) — Grandmother Lillian Reynolds Wagner is far from ready for the rocking chair. She has that new-car fever again — ever since she heard the news about electric cars.

The attractive, white-haired Detroit lady was jubilant over reports that the electric-powered auto might make a comeback. She used to sell them.

Ford and some other producers are talking about electricity for cars as a clean, efficient power source. Indeed, some experimental vehicles have already been built to use electricity-producing fuel cells.

Mrs. Wagner, proud claimant of the title of first auto saleswoman in the nation, expressed confidence that the electric auto, if put into production again, would find considerable popularity.

"I sold my first electric car in 1915 when I was 15 years old, and I think I should have a chance to sell the first of the new models when they are built," she said.

The four-time grandmother recalled that she had got into the auto sales business because her father, Joseph Reynolds was general superintendent of Detroit Electric Co., one of the pioneer companies in building electric cars.

"My career as an electric auto salesman came about by accident," she said. "A customer who was buying an electric auto for his wife called one day and asked that my father have a saleswoman bring the car out for a demonstration."

"We had no saleswoman, so I was elected, and I got the sale. In the next five years I sold over $650,000 worth of electric autos, and since they retailed for about $3,200, that meant sales of over 200 cars—quite a feat in those days."

Many of Detroit's elite were included in her customers. Among them was Clara Ford, wife of industrialist Henry Ford. Since Henry Ford's Model I was selling for about $400 at the time, Mrs. Wagner recalled that it was a feather in her cap to sell his wife a car at eight times the car as a Christmas present for his wife.

"The women of yesteryear really loved their electric cars, and I am sure today's women would appreciate them just as much if the auto makers give them a chance to do so," she said.

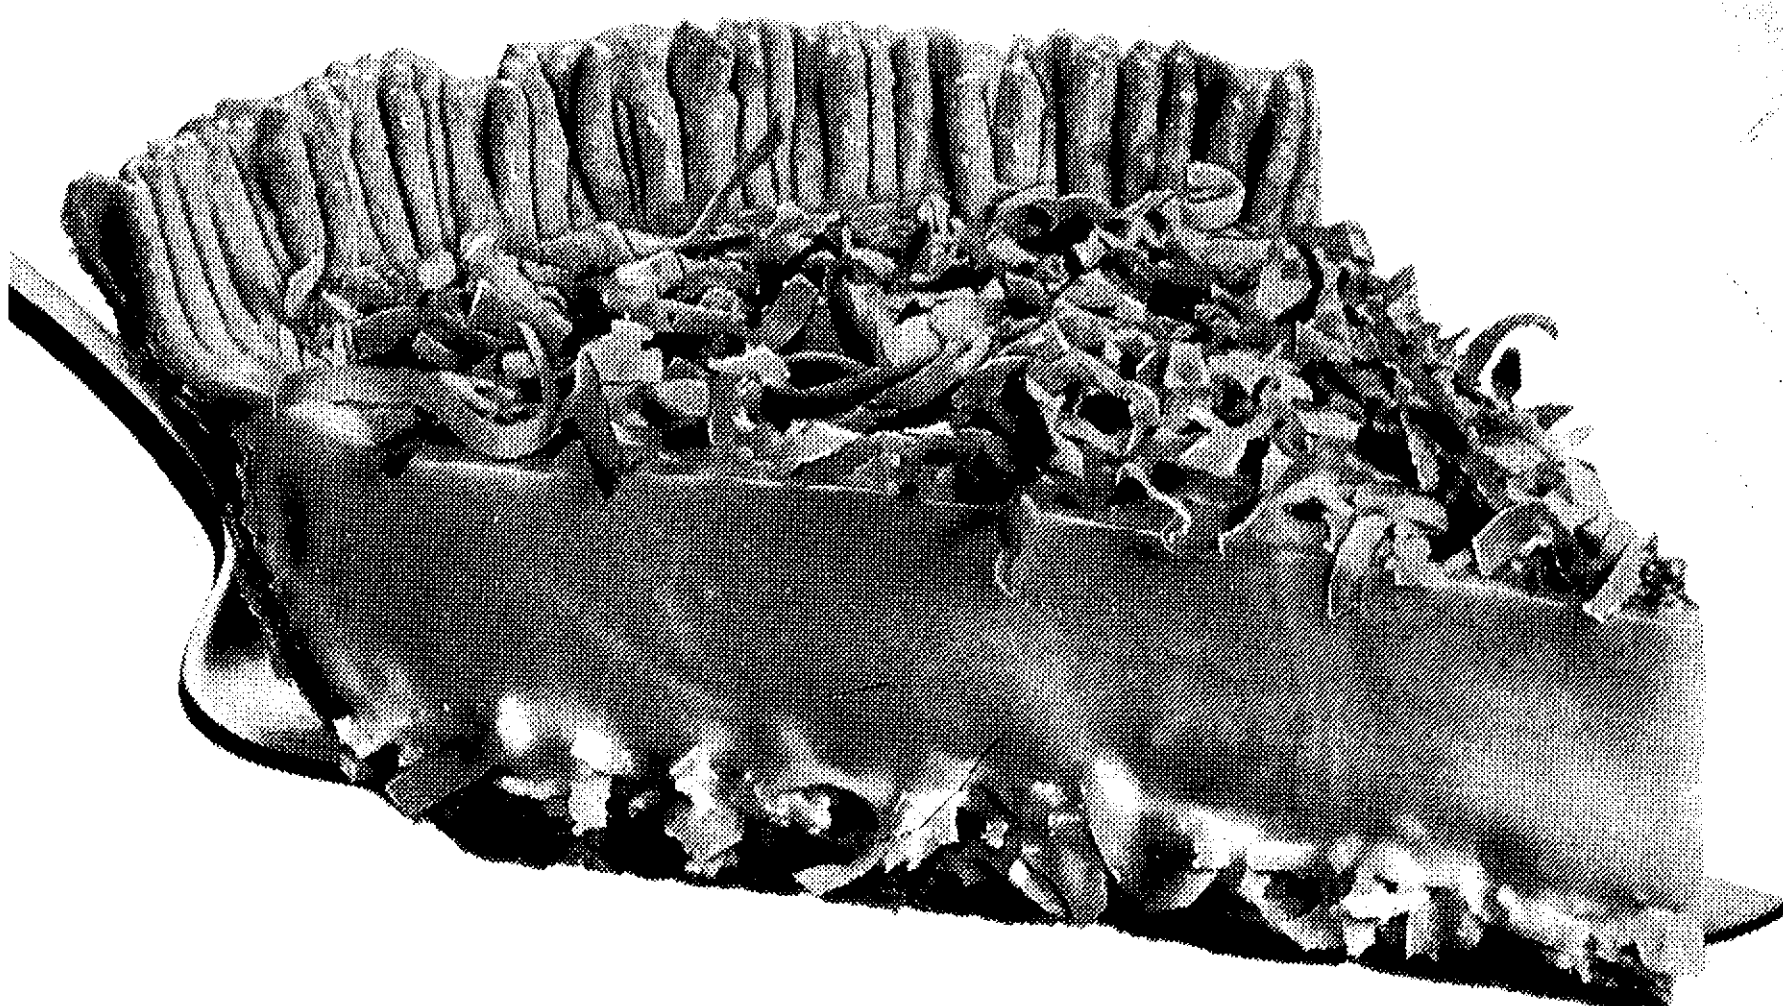

Mrs. Wagner recalled that one of the toughest parts of her original car-selling days was that she had to teach practically all the women customers how to drive.

THE POWER TO RESPOND

By Dr. Charles Johnson

The power to Respond — have you ever given any thought to how the body heals a cut, mends a broken bone, replaces worn and damaged tissue, regulates body temperature or causes the heart to beat the number of times needed during rest, work, etc. These and all functions are under the direct control of the brain and messages are carried by way of nerve fibers. If at any time nerve fibers are impaired by spinal misalignments, the power to respond is lowered and disease begins. Corrective spinal care will release and return to normal. Improved health and normal function will be the natural result. "Presented as a Public Service for Better Health By" THE JOHNSON CHIROPRACTIC CLINIC

Porkers to Spin Web of Cotton Sat.

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Writer
Arkansas spins a web of cotton for hapless Texas Tech Saturday in the next to last weekend of a fervid Southwest Conference football race that could come out like it was forecast in September.

All Arkansas has to do to make a third straight trip to the Cotton Bowl, where it is hinted, Georgia will be waiting Dec. 31, is beat a Texas Tech team that has won only three games out of nine.

And to make the forecast come out on top, Southern Methodist could lose to Baylor at Dallas. That would give Arkansas not only the Cotton Bowl but the conference championship for a third consecutive year—a record.

Arkansas will have finished the season with a 9-1 record, making it a true bowl stature, and the Razorbacks would have another chance at the championship should Southern Methodist lose the following week to Texas Christian.

However, should Texas Tech, in a miracle of football, upset Arkansas, there could be quite a jam and Arkansas might even be knocked out of the Cotton Bowl game.

Tech gives no indication that it can turn the trick under most any circumstance. The Red Raiders were beaten by Texas, Texas A&M, Texas Christian, Southern Methodist and Baylor. Arkansas beat all those teams except Baylor and they're still trying to figure out why that didn't come about, too.

But that was seven weeks ago anyway, and the Arkansas team today doesn't much resemble that one except that there are 11 players on the field.

Arkansas just doesn't let up in November.

Southern Methodist, on the basis of the record, should beat Baylor. The Methodists have whipped Texas A&M and Texas, teams that clouded Baylor. Both teams beat Texas Tech. The only thing in Baylor's favor in the record is a 7-0 decision over Arkansas, which slammed Southern Methodist 22-0.

The latter, however, may be the real payoff. Baylor last week returned to the winner's circle after three straight losses and Southern Methodist was dropping its first in six—the big one Arkansas at that. Can the Methodists get back up for a tough battle against a team that has momentum?

Also, SMU appears likely to be without its star quarterback, Mac White, who is injured. On the other hand, Terry Southall, the Baylor quarterback, is on the drive back, now leading the conference in passing.

It looks like a dreary day for Southern Methodist. It could be made more dreary with the realization that a loss to Baylor might eliminate SMU from the bowl picture. There is talk that SMU might nab a Bluebonnet Bowl spot if it finished without defeat in its remaining games.

The third game on the schedule send Texas Christian to Houston to battle Rice in an also-ran game that will be the

Pork Player Is Buried at Searcy

SEARCY, Ark. (AP)—Claude Smith, 23, University of Arkansas football player who died Tuesday, was buried Thursday in a cemetery nine miles north of Searcy after services attended by coach Frank Broyles and athletes Smith had known and played with.

Broyles, the Razorback seniors and other members of the university staff were among about 200 persons who attended the funeral at the First Methodist Church. Broyles spoke at the grave.

Many persons attended graveside services at Harmony Cemetery.

Smith, a senior defensive tackle, fell unconscious in the dressing room after the Arkansas-Texas A&M game Oct. 29. He later underwent three hours of brain surgery at a Houston, Tex., hospital. He died without regaining consciousness.

Southern Methodist, on the basis of the record, should beat Baylor. The Methodists have whipped Texas A&M and Texas, teams that clouded Baylor. Both teams beat Texas Tech. The only thing in Baylor's favor in the record is a 7-0 decision over Arkansas, which slammed Southern Methodist 22-0.

The latter, however, may be the real payoff. Baylor last week returned to the winner's circle after three straight losses and Southern Methodist was dropping its first in six—the big one Arkansas at that. Can the Methodists get back up for a tough battle against a team that has momentum?

It looks like a dreary day for Southern Methodist. It could be made more dreary with the realization that a loss to Baylor might eliminate SMU from the bowl picture. There is talk that SMU might nab a Bluebonnet Bowl spot if it finished without defeat in its remaining games.

The third game on the schedule send Texas Christian to Houston to battle Rice in an also-ran game that will be the final home appearance for grand old Jess Neely, retiring coach of the Owls.

Rice hasn't won as many games as TCU although the latter has taken only two. But against mutual opponents, the Owls have looked better. Rice lost to Texas, Arkansas and Texas A&M much tougher battles than Texas Christian. But Rice lost to Texas Tech, which had lost to Texas Christian. That's the only thing in favor of the Horned Frogs.

The crowds won't be large, with only about 35,000 at Lubbock and at Dallas and 25,000 at Houston.

Texas and Texas A&M will be interested spectators only. They have finished the schedule except for their annual clash on Thanksgiving Day—this time at Austin.

Three out of four last week. Here's how they look Saturday: Arkansas Texas Tech—could be quite a bit of scoring but Arkansas will do most of it.

Baylor-Southern Methodist—Southern Methodist is likely to be quite flat after the heart-breaking loss to Arkansas in the big one, so the prediction is that Baylor will ruin SMU's hopes.

Rice-Texas Christian—A mild vote for Rice, which failed to meet predictions against A&M last week.

Notre Dame Ruled Uneasy Favorite

By WILL GRIMSLEY
EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Notre Dame rules an uneasy 4½-point favorite over Michigan State here Saturday in the battle of top-ranking, unbeaten football gladiators that both concede may be decided by a quick early break.

The prize is No. 1 ranking and the probable national college championship.

"These teams are so much alike — both big, well-balanced with good passing and running plus strong defenses — that the outcome may hinge on who makes the fewest mistakes," says Ara Parseghian, coach of the top-placed Fighting Irish.

"Although both are high-scoring teams, I think this might well develop into a defensive game. Then it's a question of which gets the big break."

Duffy Daugherty, loose and joke-cracking coach of the No. 2 Michigan State Spartans, agrees that a tight, hard-hitting contest is in prospect, but he warns:

"In an emotionally packed game like this, you can't tell. One team may get a quick break — an intercepted pass or a long kick return — and bust the thing wide open. Then both, or one or the other, might rack up a big score."

The blue ribbon battle, creating more national interest than any college encounter in a couple of decades, kicks off at 1:30 p.m. at Spartan Stadium before an expected sellout crowd of nearly 79,000 and a broad television audience.

It is being beamed live to a large part of the nation — although not all — by ABC-TV. Other areas will get it by delayed video tape.

Pro scouts will be out in clusters. No teams in the country have more prospective No. 1 draft choices.

The weather forecast is for cloudy skies and temperature around 40 degrees. The field is covered as protection against idiotic light rain or snow Friday.

Thus, a fast-footing and a dry football may be expected.

Boxer Dies After Being Knocked Out

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — Light heavyweight boxer Greatest Crawford, who lapsed into a coma after being knocked out Wednesday night, died early today in Timken-Mercy Hospital here.

The Brooklyn, N.Y., fighter was knocked out in the ninth round of a scheduled 10-rounder with Marion Conner, a 26-year-old, 179-pounder from Canton.

Crawford was 26 and weighed in for the fight at 170 pounds.

He was rushed to the hospital after efforts to revive him proved futile. He underwent surgery to remove a blood clot in his brain.

Crawford's death was believed to be the first ring fatality in an American professional bout this year.

In 1965 two U.S. professional boxers died as a result of injuries suffered in fights.

On May 13 in Philadelphia, heavyweight Sonny Banks of Detroit died from a brain injury following his knockout of Leotis Martin. Death was attributed to a brain hemorrhage and a concussion.

Scared of Texas Tech

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Arkansas coach Frank Broyles said Thursday he was "as scared as I've been all year before a football game" in anticipation of Saturday's meeting with Texas Tech.

"This is a big game," Broyles said. "We're all scared and we hope everybody is looking forward to it. Tech is much better now than they were earlier this season."

The Razorbacks can gain at least a tie for the Southwest Conference championship by beating Tech.

Broyles said the coaching staff felt that injured wingback Harry Jones would be able to play in the game, the last of the regular season for the Porkers.

Named captains for the game were Dick Cunningham, Loyd Phillips and Jones.

Boros Not in Old Rocking Chair Yet

By MURRAY ROSE
HOUSTON (AP) — Old rocking chair hasn't got Julius Boros yet.

The 46-year-old, former two-time U.S. Open champion returned to the golf circuit this week after a couple of months "of fishing and taking care of my seven kids. Baby-sitting was enough to keep me busy."

It must have done the husky, 6-foot veteran a lot of good, for he unreeled a late afternoon five-under-par 34-32-66 for the first-round lead in the $110,000 Houston Champions International Tournament Thursday.

Boros, a non-winner on the circuit for 2½ years but collector of $38,085 in official money winnings so far this year, was not claiming any victory yet.

"This was a nice, relaxed round," he said. "Let's see what happens next. Maybe it can keep up, who knows."

He was pressed by Dick Crawford, a handsome, 27-year-old bachelor from Bella Vista, Ark.

Crawford was a two-time collegiate golf champion for the University of Houston but he hasn't won since becoming a pro in 1962. He was a stroke behind with a fine 34-33 over a 7-118-yard, par 36-35 course he says he's played 300 or 400 times.

There were five tour regulars with 68s, four with 69s, 12 with 70s and 10 pros and amateur Hal Underwood of Houston at par 71 for the superbly groomed Cypress Creek layout of the Champions Golf Club.

So there's going to be a lot of jostling for $21,000 first prize in the last of the big money individual tournaments of the year.

LRU Defeats Ozarks Cagers

Dobson had 20 points for the game. Richard Pyland led Ozarks with 22.

Little Rock now is 2-0, Ozarks has lost three straight.

Powder Puff Game to Be Devastating

By LARRY DON WRIGHT
Hope Star Sportswriter

It'll be the devastating offense of the juniors matched against the experience and know-how of the seniors Saturday night in the third annual Student Council-sponsored Powder Puff Game at Hammons Stadium.

The pigtailed will fly and the lipstick will smear beginning with the 7 p.m. kickoff, as Hope High School's junior and senior girls try their hands at the traditionally male sport of Football.

However the boys won't be left out. The two teams have chosen four cheerleaders, four majorettes, and a beauty from each class.

Though the contest has only been in existence for two years, it has already developed into a bitter grudge match. Both teams are confident of victory (none-theless, both still have been putting in a full hour and a half of practice per day all week).

The seniors, despite having lost their only previous battle are the tried and tested veterans. As one of the fleet-footed senior halfbacks put it, "We're going to push them up one side of the field and down the other. When the game is over the managers are going to have to sweep the juniors up off the field."

But the juniors fired back that there wouldn't be any seniors left after the game.

One of the juniors big, brawny tackles confidently pledged, "I'm going to knock 'em down every play and if they get up I'm going to stomp their heads in the ground."

So far it has only been a battle of words, but Saturday night the girls will get a chance to put on their helmets and back up their statements.

The cheerleaders (boys), dressed in wigs and matching skirts will lead the yells for their teams throughout the game. The majorettes will present a special half-time twirling routine that has been said to be "out of this world."

The highlight of the entire night may well be the coronation of the beauties (boys also) at half-time. The beauties, dressed in formal, will receive special bouquets of assorted vegetables during the half-time ceremonies, as well as the coveted Powder Puff crowns.

As in the past, play-by-play commentary will be given over the PA system throughout the game by the famous sportscasting trio of "Mel, Bud, and Chris" better known as Mr. Sillavan, Mr. Whitmarsh, and Mr. Buck).

The opening kickoff is slated for 7 p.m. in Hammons Stadium. The Student Council hopes that there will be a large crowd on hand for this annual spectacle, which always offers an enjoyable night of clean fun and is always a crowd pleaser.

The Band Mother's concession stand will be open for the game.

THE DOCTOR'S MAILBAG

Side Effects Unlikely
In Drugs for Menopause

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—Two years ago a doctor warned me not to take hormones because I have cysts in my breasts. Now another doctor has prescribed estrogen for the menopause. He says women are less likely to develop breast cancer if they take the hormone. What do you think?

A—The estrogens prescribed merely replace hormones your ovaries have been producing for many years.
They will not cause cancer and may help to prevent it but, if you have a cancer, it may be necessary to stop taking the estrogen.

Q—Will Premarin taken for the menopause cause any side effects, such as male characteristics?

A—Premarin is a strictly female hormone. In the prescribed dosage it will not cause any side effects and will not cause masculinization in any dosage.

Q—Does taking hormones for the menopause prolong or shorten the change?

A—It is now believed that hormones will neither prolong nor shorten the change, but will relieve some of the symptoms associated with it. Specifically they help you retain a sense of well-being and decrease the manifestations of aging.

Q—I am an auto mechanic and am often exposed to carbon monoxide. Does this gas damage the lungs?

A—No, but it displaces the oxygen in your blood as it passes through your lungs.
This causes a shortage of oxygen in the brain and results in headache, mental confusion, lightheadedness, blurred vision and nausea. All well-run garages now have ventilating systems to remove the carbon monoxide from the mechanics' working areas.

Q—I have taken 7 or 8 APC tablets daily for several years for headaches. When I read that these tablets, when used for a prolonged period, can cause kidney trouble I switched to aspirin but it up-sets my stomach. What should I do now?

A—APC tablets contain aspirin, phenacetin and caffeine. It is true that prolonged use of phenacetin, which is present also in many overthe-counter pain relievers, may cause kidney disease. Aspirin frequently causes stomach distress.

The first step you should take is to have your doctor determine the cause of your headaches and remove the cause. If for some reason, this can't be done, you might try a different type of pain reliever, such as propoxyphone or phenylbutanol. These drugs require a doctor's prescription.

In the game of hearts the aim is not to take tricks and the deuce is the best card. Once in awhile you can gain through the ability to lose a trick in bridge.

South would have been well-advised to let his partner play three no-trump. He had nine tricks in his own hand and could take a chance that the defense would not commence proceedings by running off diamond tricks. He would have been well-advised but the game was rubber bridge and he was looking at those 150 honors.

30,000 Turkeys—and They Eat 60 Tons of Feed Every Week!

The editor made these pictures Tuesday on the Eldridge Formby farm not far from Patmos. Mr. Formby is one of 11 contract turkey growers in southwest Ark. directed by G. V. Ritchie from the Nashville office of Mountaire.

You are looking at part of the 30,000 turkeys Mr. Formby is preparing for the Christmas market. They are separated in our sections of a 60-acre field—two for toms, and two for hens. The editor speculated that the reason they were separated was to avoid distracting them from the business of eating and putting on weight.

And they are doing a job on both counts. The toms in the top picture average 33 pounds, and the hens 16 pounds. And the whole 30,000 flock eats 60 tons of feed a week. Now you know why Mountaire built a feed mill on the south side of Hope. Mill Manager C. F. Batson says it turns out 2,400 tons a week and it's pressed to keep up with demand.

Some more information from Mr. Formby, pictured at bottom right: Tom turkeys eat five pounds of feed a week, and the smaller hens 3½ pounds. The hens will start moving to the Christmas market in two weeks, and the toms will follow in about a month.

Mr. Formby has been raising turkeys for the last five years. I asked him how his luck was holding. He said: "Very good.

It was excellent in the past years but we did have a spot of trouble this year, although Mountaire cleared it up. We started with 35,000, and now have 30,000 birds."

From Mountaire's Nashville farm division headquarters Mr. Ritchie directs 11 contract turkey farms and 240 chicken farms. No wonder feed mills are running full blast in our section—Alex. H. Washburn

Douglas Has Had a Very Full Life

By JAMES MARLOW

AP News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Paul H. Douglas, tall, white-haired Illinois Democrat, with lines in his face, shows his age at 74, and no wonder. His has been a tremendous life.

Intellectual, teacher, soldier, politician, his main concern has been people and how to make life more endurable. Yet, much he did, because scattered over years of trying, is easily overlooked or forgotten.

He was independent, idealistic, a liberal with intense feeling and emotion. He wept several times in public, once on the Senate floor, which is not the best way to make an impression in that hard-boiled and pragmatic place.

But in his 18 years there much major legislation of our time had its fingerprints on it, directly or obliquely. Douglas and President Johnson arrived in the Senate the same year, 1948.

There was never much similarity between them, and for long never much love lost. Although their relations mellowed later, Douglas had little of Johnson's restlessness his relentless aggressiveness, his indefatigable attention to details of politics and the senate.

Where Johnson, always called a practical politician, could bring opposite sides together through compromise, Douglas was not a ready compromiser.

If for only this reason alone he could never be Johnson's dish.

These few examples show why Johnson would always have been a more effective leader than Douglas. But Douglas' role in the Senate lay in a different direction.

He envisioned, proposed or sponsored, and pursued social and economic programs often years ahead of their time. But he persisted for years.

In an age like this — when pettiness, ugliness and avarice color the flavor of the day, as they have in every other age — the Athenians no doubt would have considered Douglas a truly noble man.

He worked his way through Bowdoin College while playing center on the football team and won a Phi Beta Kappa key; he got a Ph.D. at Columbia University, taught economics at the University of Chicago, wrote numerous books on the subject, and in World War II at age 50 enlisted in the Marines. He came out a colonel with a shattered left arm.

In the first half of this century in Illinois he worked for social welfare programs which became national programs. And Douglas, one-time president of the American Economic Association, got himself elected a Chicago alderman in 1939.

Three years after the war he was elected, and later was twice re-elected, to the Senate.

Here is some of the major legislation which, as he says, he drafted, advocated, sponsored, or co-sponsored although it took years for all to get through Congress:

Raising the minimum wage; providing for the disclosure of union and management pension and welfare funds; bringing industry and jobs to depressed areas through redevelopment;

LBJ the Best Friend of Tapioca Pudding

By WALTER R. MEARS

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson may turn out to be the best friend a tapioca pudding ever had.

He can't say enough for the stuff.

Take Thursday night. He looked at the big, fancy cake turned out by the White House chef for the 32nd anniversary of Johnson's marriage to Lady Bird.

"It is pretty," he said, "but I think I will have to have tapioca."

It was that way all day at Bethesda Naval Hospital.

In his hospital suite, the convalescent President told reporters he couldn't remember his menu — but "I know I had tapioca."

And off he went: "Tapioca has less calories than any other dessert that you can get and it has great advantages when it is made with skim milk and Sucaryl."

He said it is easy to make, filling, satisfying and low on calories.

By Johnson's account, a heaping cup of tapioca has 109 calories; a serving of ice cream has 200 to 250.

At his anniversary party, Johnson sent for a dish of leftover tapioca and fed spoonfuls to reporters, pointing out the calorie count.

He said Zephyr Wright, the family cook, makes tapioca for him in big batches, and puts it up in containers.

Johnson said he takes them along when he goes to the LBJ Ranch in Texas — or goes to the hospital.

He said no one can match her tapioca.

ay, November 18, 1966 Lunar 2 Due to Snap Moon Landing Sites

By RALPH DIGHTON PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — First pictures capable of pinpointing spots where men may land safely on the moon are scheduled to be snapped today by Lunar Orbiter 2.

The photographs, expected to show surface details as small as three feet across, will be among 6 frames to be taken of a dry plain called the Sea of Tranquility starting about 10:20 a.m. ET.

Processed in a tiny darkroom aboard the U.S. spacecraft, some of the pictures were to be adioed within two hours to a receiving station at Madrid, Spain.

A U.S. space agency spokesman at Jet Propulsion Laboratory said prints would be released at Madrid several hours afterward.

Additional transmissions to Madrid and a station at Goldstone, Calif., are due later in the day. Pictures received at Goldstone are to be released here late tonight.

Plans called for the photographs to be snapped at the low point of a 30-by-1,150-mile orbit to which the spacecraft was steered by remote control after launch Nov. 7.

At this altitude Lunar Orbiter 2's high resolution camera was expected to show whether slopes in the target area are gentle enough for Apollo program landing craft, due to be launched in 1968, to land on without toppling.

Technical problems blurred the high resolution pictures taken by Lunar Orbiter 1 in August. Its medium resolution photographs did not show surface roughness in the detail required by scientists seeking potential landing sites.

A spokesman said Lunar Orbiter 2 would snap more than 400 high and medium resolution pictures over the next eight days and radio them to earth periodically over the next month.

Three Soviet spacecraft currently are orbiting the moon but only one — Luna 12, launched Oct. 22 — has returned pictures. Those photographs, snapped at a height of 62 miles, show less detail than those taken by Lunar Orbiter 1.

Ecuador Names New President

QUITO, Ecuador (AP)—Otto Arosemena Gomez, 43, a bank manager, lawyer and politician, has been elected provisional president of Ecuador by an alliance of conservatives and independents in the Constituent Assembly.

Arosemena succeeds Clemente Yerovi Indaburu, who resigned. He was installed as provisional president last March 30 by leaders of a military coup.

Arosemena has said his political beliefs represent a "third position," neither left nor right.

Leaflets Are Dropped Constantly

By KENNETH L. WHITING SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Enough paper to reach more than twice around the earth at the equator has been dropped on North Viet Nam by American planes.

More than 400 million propaganda leaflets have been dumped on the Communist-controlled north since April 1965.

Such psychological warfare—called psywar here—"is not going to win the war but it will make a real contribution by wearing down morale," said one U.S. intelligence man.

North Vietnamese prisoners and the pockets of northerners killed in action often carry leaflets, many of which promise safe conduct if they surrender to allied forces.

The main purpose of the leaflet barrage is to win Communist soldiers over to the Saigon government.

They are also aimed at discouraging northerners from repairing roads and bridges destroyed by U.S. bomb strikes.

One leaflet has a photograph of a shattered bridge and the shadow of a circling U.S. bomber. The reverse side says in Vietnamese: "Compatriots who are forced to repair bridges and roads, beware. The quicker they are repaired the sooner they will be bombed again. Try to avoid working on roads and bridges, you will save yourselves from a needless death."

To cripple Communist savings, counterfeit North Vietnamese bank notes are dropped along with the message: "As the war goes on there will be less and less to buy. Prices will go higher. Your savings will become worthless paper."

The note is of one dong denomination, worth about two and a third cups of rationed rice in North Viet Nam. Northern army privates reportedly earn five dongs each month.

Preparation of the leaflets is a complex process. Subject matter is developed jointly by U.S. and Vietnamese experts in Saigon.

Most are dropped in the Red River delta near Hanoi by high-flying planes.

For the widest possible dispersion, experts use 8.5 by 2.3 inch paper of special weight. These drift on the wind to targets as far as 100 miles.

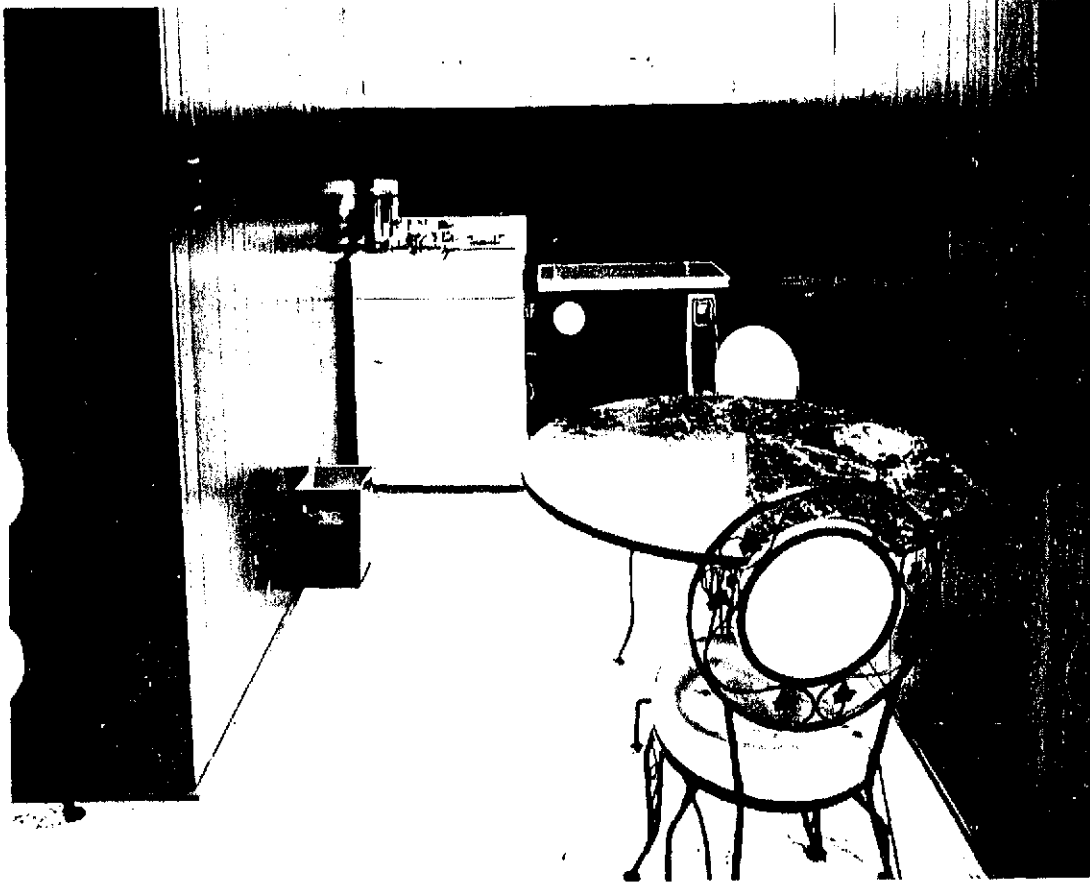

Leaflets are packed in bombs set to explode at a certain height to scatter the paper. The rectangular shape gives them both spin and lift.

William L. Stearman of the joint U.S. Public Affairs Office in Saigon reports 447,657,000 leaflets have been dumped on North Viet Nam since the project began.

The National Basketball Association started keeping rebounding records in the 1950-51 season.

State Has Ingredients of Progress

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP)—The Arkansas State Chamber of Commerce was told Thursday night that the state had demonstrated the basic ingredients of progress.

Frederic G. Donner, board chairman and chief executive officer of General Motors Corp., said Arkansas had recognized that through producing useful products and services any state or nation can enjoy economic success.

He praised the state for expansion and diversification of the manufacturing industry.

"Even within the short span of the past two decades traditional industries in your state have been modernized and new ones have been born," Donner said.

Virgil Day of New York, vice president of General Electric Co.'s management development and employee relations services, told the chamber members to beware of a new union economic weapon known as "coalition bargaining."

He said that at its mildest coalition bargaining might only mean that the different unions meet together beforehand and decide on a set of common goals and timing.

Letters to the Editor

REPUBLICAN VIEW

Editor The Star: Your work in backing up Rockefeller for Governor and Hammerschmitt was very good. You did back up with your deeds and the best fellow through in part of helping to elect a more conservative congressman. I have been reading the part on top of your front page, "The tragedy of Man: He starts off with a Country — and winds up with a Government". Your follow through with a full meaning in backing up the more conservative candidate for congress in our Third District fitted in perfectly with the slogan on top of your front page, by telling the people how liberal James Trimble was and how he helped to lead our country down to Socialism.

Your papers were sent to practically every place in the Third District and that covered the ground a whole lot. And thank you very much for the best of assistance and the best follow through in the election, and the results was very good.

Sincerely Yours

New York Deputy Mayor Quits

NEW YORK (AP) — Deputy New York Mayor Robert Price is leaving his $32,500-a-year post to become executive vice president of the Dreyfus Corp., which manages the Dreyfus Fund, one of the nation's largest mutual fund organizations.

Mayor John V. Lindsay said Price would leave his post around the middle of next month.

The 34-year-old deputy mayor is credited with much of the success Republican Lindsay has had in his political career. He was Lindsay's campaign manager. Price insisted his new position would be a full-time job and that he had no plans to participate in the 1968 election campaign.

Adventure Is Right in Your Own Back Yard

The best newsstories and pictures don't always come from far-away romantic places - more often than not you stumble upon them right in your own community.

Offhand you wouldn't think Patmos to be romantic, nor would you think the business of getting there much of an adventure. At last Tuesday I ran down a report that Eldridge Formby of Patmos Route One was raising a flock of 30,000 turkeys - and the report of my travels and what I found at the end of them should be as interesting as the pictures, which appear on Page 7 of today's edition.

Mr. Formby's turkey-ranchadventure is Patmos Route One - a loose phrase that covers many square miles of southern Hempstead county. Specific directions on how to reach the ranch are the first step toward adventure, about 12 miles from Hope but far removed from the paved highway system.

You go down the Patmos pavement six or seven miles, reach a cemetery, meet a "Y" where a gravel road comes in from the right - and turn right. You come to a road junction, with a bad bridge just ahead of you on your road - but you don't cross the bridge; you turn left into the side road.

You cross the L. & A. Railway, and turn right at the first side-road. It becomes narrow and overhung with brush, but just about the time you wonder if you're running up a blind alley the road opens up with a view of a cut-over field on the right - and your eye notes something moving among the stumps. Then other shapes - they are turkeys, out-riders from the main flock. You turn right for the feed house at the end of a lane and suddenly you're in the middle of 30,000 tremendous birds!

Mr. Formby opened a gate into one of the paddocks where the turkeys are grazed and I drove in with the camera. The turkeys crowded around like curious kids. Mr. Formby cleared the way waving his hands and occasionally giving a laggard to a boot in the caboose. As we moved through, the birds closed in behind us - we were a motorized island afloat on a Turkish sea.

We stopped at one of the range feeder houses, and I began to set up the cameras. But not before we were entertained with some strange music.

Individual turkeys are always gobbling, as if to themselves. But every four or five minutes there would be a dead-pan silence. Then the lead gobbler would sound a note, and the whole flock would come in on the down beat - and the ground veritably shook. It reminded me of nothing so much as one of the crashing finales of the Razorbaks' marching band!

Adventure - it's a ticket you can write at home as well as abroad.

Soldier Is Jailed By Mistake

LAWTON, Okla. (AP) - Some residents of Lawton want to reimburse a Nebraska soldier who was mistakenly jailed 25 days in connection with a burglary.

Mayor Wayne Gilley has started a fund-raising campaign for Pfc. Cecil Boelts, 22, of Aurora, Neb., who is stationed at the nearby Ft. Sill.

Boelts was jailed Oct. 17 on a charge of robbing two grocery stores. Authorities said the charge was dismissed when witnesses withdrew their identification of the soldier as the robber.

Boelts' parents borrowed $2,000 for lawyer fees and had to raise more money to travel here from their farm home to be with their son and his wife, Donna, who is expecting a baby.

"It will be a long time before this young couple can repay their parents the money they had to borrow," the mayor said Thursday.

New Herndon Funeral Home

Herndon Funeral Home, formerly Herndon-Cornelius Funeral Home, will hold opening hours November 19-20 from 1 to 7 p.m. each day. The dedicatory service will be held at 3 p.m. on Sunday, November 20.

The new building, designed by Raymond Branton of Little Rock, and constructed by Eugene E. Ferguson, Hope, has over 10,000 feet of floor space including three large staterooms, a chapel with seating capacity of 325; three parlor areas, insurance office, two private arrangement offices; a coffee bar, ladies lounge, two modern preparation rooms and over 15,000 feet of parking space at the rear of the building.

This building overall has 500 yards of wall carpeting and is modern in every respect.

The name Herndon Funeral Home goes back to several pioneer families, including McFadden, McRae and Briant. In 1898 the firm, Hope Furniture and Undertaking Company, was owned by R. M. Briant, K. G. McRae and W. M. Cornelius.

In 1923 they sold their ownership to W. M. Cornelius and R. V. Herndon Sr. and Terrell S. Cornelius, doing business under the name of Hope Furniture and Undertaking Company. R. V. Herndon Sr. had previously worked for the first owners since 1910.

In 1935 the Herndon-Cornelius Burial Association was organized and approximately two years later the Haynes property where the new building now stands, was purchased, remodeled and made into the previously Herndon-Cornelius Funeral Home.

Rufus V. Herndon Jr., after graduating from the Cincinnati College of Embalmers in 1935, was employed by this firm as Licensed Embalmer and Funeral Director.

The ownership remained the same until 1956 when R. V. Herndon Sr., and son, Rufus V. Herndon Jr., purchased the interest of the late Terrell S. Cornelius. Upon the death of his father in 1964, Rufus Herndon Jr., obtained the complete ownership of the firm.

At the present and in the future, Mr. Herndon, his two sons, Rufus III and Joe Matt, and several staff members will strive to bring better service to the community and Southwest Arkansas.

Red Cross Bloodmobile Here Nov. 21

Monday, Nov. 21, the Red Cross Bloodmobile will visit Hope and will be at the Youth Center from 3 to 6 p.m.

This starts Hope off in the new year in the blood program. The County was able to stay in the Red Cross program because two industries came to the aid - Myer's Bakery permitted an in plant drawing, the first in Hope and it was quite successful due to the effort of Lee Harmon and Jerry Winer of the Bakery.

All employees were cooperative and Mr. Harmon and Mr. Winer spent their time soliciting others outside. They were credited with persuading Bod Tolson of Electronics Enterprises who transported 25 of his workers who gave blood.

Claude Byrd, National Guard, permitted use of the Armory on Saturday and this blood went for defense but counted on Hempstead's quota.

All these things kept Hempstead in the program for another year. Now it's time again to give blood. Come to the Youth Center from 3 to 6 p.m. on Monday, Nov. 21 and donate a pint.

Surveys to Determine Cotton Loss

WEST MEMPHIS, Ark. (AP) - Rep. E. C. Gathings, D-Ark., has asked Agriculture Secretary Orville Freeman to order surveys of eastern Arkansas counties to determine if farmers are qualified for government help.

Saying that 1966 has turned out to be one of the worst years for Arkansas cotton farmers, Gathings asked for the survey to see if farmers could get Farmers Home Administration emergency loans and other aid.

He blamed the farmers' plight on excessive rains in the spring and fall, drought in the summer and colder-than-normal winter.

Gathings made the request to Freeman in a letter dated Nov. 15.

Educator Dies at 79

RUSSELLVILLE, Ark. (AP) - George Turrentine, 79, executive secretary of the Arkansas Tech Alumni Association and former head of the education department at the college, died Thursday.

Turrentine had been associated with the school since 1921, when he was named head of the education department. He was named registrar in 1948 and served in that position until his retirement in 1950 to become fulltime executive secretary of the alumni association.

Engine Failure Caused Crash

LITTLE ROCK (AP) - The Civil Aeronautics Board has reported that engine failure caused by inadequate maintenance and inspection was the probable cause of a helicopter crash April 4 in Little Rock that killed two men.

Harley C. Heath Jr., the pilot, and Jimmie W. Givens, an off-duty policeman who was a passenger, were killed when the helicopter fell into a ravine beside the Little Rock Country Club. They were flying the early morning traffic watch for radio station KMYO.

The CAB report also said the helicopter was low on fuel and would have run out of gasoline within a few minutes.

Asks More for State Hospital

LITTLE ROCK (AP) - The superintendent of the State Hospital urged the Arkansas Legislative Council Thursday to increase the institution's budget so it can compete for skilled employees.

Dr. George W. Jackson said the hospital was beginning to lose key personnel because the demand for psychiatric workers was becoming so great. He said psychiatric physicians were being "bombed" with offers from other states.

Jackson urged the council to approve a $10,893,488 budget for 1967-68 and a budget of $11,974,566 for 1968-69. The hospital present appropriation is $8,117,500.

"We have tried to keep this budget as conservative as we know how in keeping with what we knew might happen to us," Jackson said.

Jackson also seeks an appropriation of $566,325 in 1967-68 and $1,049,156 in 1968-69 for a community health center at Jonesboro. He asked for $565,703 in 1968-69 for a center at Fayetteville. The centers were authorized by the 1965 legislature.

Others appearing before the council to plead for budget increases were the Arkansas Children's Colony and the state Health Department.

Charles E. Acuff, superintendent of the Children's Colony, asked for a budget of $3,791,275 in 1967-68 and $4,553,770 in 1968-69. Included in the request was $604,430 for next year and $996,650 the following year for the proposed Arkadelphia unit.

The present appropriation is $1,881,740.

Acuff said the increase was needed for higher salaries. He said a national survey places the institution last in nearly every category.

The health department sought an increase of $827,000 for its operations. Dr. J. T. Herron, state health officer, said much of the increase was for salaries.

County ASC Vote Nov. 28

LITTLE ROCK (AP) - The Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service said Thursday it would hold its annual convention Nov. 28 to elect a new county ASC committee. Delegates will be members of the eight new Community ASC committees. The committees are to be announced Monday.

Arkansas State Status Talked

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP) - Northeast Arkansas legislators asked the 1967 General Assembly Thursday to approve university status for Arkansas State College at Jonesboro.

The legislative group, composed of legislators from 15 counties in the 1st Congressional District, made the request in a resolution introduced by Rep. C. B. Nance Jr. of Crittenden County.

Sen. Clarence E. Bell of Parke, elected to succeed Nance as president of the group, said obstacles keeping the college from university status had been removed.

Johnson Is Sore But Is Doing Fine

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Johnson, "sore as if I was beat with a baseball bat," is nevertheless working, talking - even celebrating - after his double operation.

His recovery so far has been routine - so routine that the White House medical bulletins have little to say.

The latest, issued last night: "He is still progressing."

Johnson did a bit of his progressing at a party in his Bethesda Naval Hospital suite, marking the 32nd anniversary of his marriage to Lady Bird.

It got under way late because the President napped until early evening.

When he awoke, Johnson donned street clothes for the first time since his surgery Wednesday morning.

The double operation removed a growth from his right vocal cord and repaired a rupture in the year-old scar left by his gall bladder operation.

"It hurts all the time," Johnson remarked at the anniversary party. The President said he has pains in his side, his throat, his right arm and his legs.

And Johnson said he is trying to keep busy because it keeps his mind off the aches and pains.

Johnson talked in a low, husky voice. When he saw reporters jotting down his remarks, he cautioned them, "I don't want anyone to report I made a major speech. I am prohibited from making major speeches."

China Bans Militant Red Youth Guards

TOKYO (AP) - Communist China has banned the movement of youthful militant Red Guards from Nov. 21 until next spring, Japanese reports from Peking said today.

The order was decreed by the Chinese Communist party leadership and the National People's Congress because the Red Guards were tying up vital means of transportation for Communist China's third five-year plan.

The decree ordered all Red Guards presently in Peking to return to their provincial homes and prohibited provincial Red Guards traveling to Peking, Japanese newsmen in Peking said.

Reports said the Red Guards would be refused passage on trains and ferries beginning Nov. 21.

Uncounted numbers of Red Guards had made the long march to Peking similar to the one the Communists made to Yenan in 1937.

Thieves Get $56,000 Haul

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP) - A gang of thieves stood in one of Melbourne's busiest streets Thursday night, hammered a five-inch hole in the concrete wall of an antique dealer's shop and escaped with jewels worth $56,000.

The men posed as construction workers on a new building going up beside the antique shop. They used a sledgehammer and crowbar to smash their way into the shop, then took oxycetylene equipment in with them and cut open the office safe.

Admission of China to UN Not Likely

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) - The annual General Assembly debate on admission of Red China to the United Nations opens today amid forecasts that Peking will be kept out for at least another year.

Cambodia, a sponsor of the resolution proclaiming the Communist mainland regime as the only lawful representative of China, was expected to open the two-week discussion with a demand that the Chinese Nationalists be ousted and the Communist regime given China's U.N. seat.

Diplomats said Italy would spell out a formula for settling the 16-year-old China problem on the basis of "political realities."

They said support was growing for the Italian plan, described as a maneuver which eventually would give Peking the China seat and let the Nationalists stay, as representatives of Formosa.

Nationalist China's chief delegate, Liu Chieh, told The Associated Press this week that his government still opposes any two-China deal.

"If we were to accept the idea of two Chinas, we would be accepting the division of my country and, in effect, perpetuating this division," he said.

The resolution is cosponsored by Albania, Algeria, Cuba, Congo (Brazzaville), Guinea, Mali, Pakistan, Romania and Syria. It asks that the assembly recognize representatives of the Red Chinese government "as the only lawful representatives of China to the United Nations" and demands that it "expel forthwith the representatives of Chiang Kai-shek."

The Italian plan would have the assembly set up a committee to make a 12-month study of the China question and recommend a solution.

Informal sources said the United States opposed this idea at first, but agreed to accept the proposal when it began picking up support.

The sources said the two-China scheme was not featured in the proposal for fear of scaring off supporters.

Canada and a number of other western nations which have voted against Peking in the past are said to favor some sort of approach to the two-China plan.

Both Peking and Taipei have said repeatedly they would not agree to any such solution.

The assembly also has before it a resolution sponsored by the United States and 12 other nations. Aimed at blocking the pro-Peking proposal, it would reaffirm that a two-thirds vote is needed to decide the question of China's U.N. representation.

The two-thirds rule was applied last year and Peking was defeated on a 47-47 tie vote.

U.S. Ships Bombard Cargo Vessels

By ROBERT TUCKMAN
SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) - U.S. warships bombarded cargo vessels along a 10-mile stretch of North Viet Nam today in a renewal of the 7th Fleet's new campaign to cut the seaborne flow of Communist supplies to the South.

The Navy reported 42 cargo boats destroyed or damaged in the bombardment by two destroyers ranging 20 to 30 miles north of the demilitarized zone between North and South Viet Nam.

The Navy said the destroyers John R. Craig and Hammer fired more than 250 rounds of five-inch shells at supply craft both on the beach and in the water.

The U.S. command reported only small and scattered ground action in South Viet Nam, while Vietnamese headquarters reported a series of Viet Cong harassing attacks with mortars, and mines that ranged from one end of the country to the other.

One sabotage attack set off a four-hour fire and a series of explosions in a U.S. ammunition dump near Saigon, but a U.S. military spokesman said damage was light and there were no casualties.

On the political front, Premier Nguyen Cao Ky announced six changes in the civilian cabinet in an effort to end the eight-week-old dispute between southern cabinet ministers and northern military junta. Reports of friction persisted after a stormy meeting of top leaders Thursday night, and further changes were thought likely.

For the seventh day in a row, monsoon rains and generally poor weather cut heavily into U.S. air strikes Thursday against North Viet Nam. U.S. pilots flew only 52 missions, about one third the average during good weather.

U.S. military sources said the North Vietnamese are taking advantage of the foul weather to rush repairs of roads, bridges and rail lines.

Gum-based B52 bombers struck today in Tay Ninh Province for the ninth consecutive day in support of Operation Atleboro, the 30,000-man hunt by U.S. ground forces to flush the Viet Cong out of a major stronghold 60 miles northwest of Saigon.

Only light ground contact was reported in Operation Atleboro, but U.S. headquarters announced that the number of enemy killed so far in the month-old operation passed the 1,000 mark.
